Dear Professor Sudash,

Thank you for your information. I wish to submit a new manuscript entitled "Diversity Based on ARDRA and Functional Characterization of Antifungal Producing Streptomyces Like-Strain Isolated from Rhizosphere of Cajeput Plants in Wanagama Forest, Yogyakarta, Indonesia" for consideration by the Malaysian Journal of Microbiology.

I confirm that this work is original and has not been published elsewhere nor is it currently under consideration for publication elsewhere.

Please address all correspondence concerning this manuscript to me at [email: muddin_69@unm.ac.id]

Thank you for your consideration of this manuscript.

Dear Dr. Alimuddin,
Dear Allmuddin Ali,

Thank you for submitting the manuscript Diversity Based on ARDRA and Functional Characterization of Antifungal Producing Streptomyces-Like Strain Isolated from Rhizosphere of Cajuput Plants (Melaleuca leucodendron L.) in Wanagama Forest, Yogyakarta Province, Indonesia to Malaysian Journal of Microbiology. Your manuscript has been reviewed and I am sorry to have to inform you that, as currently presented, it is not suitable for publication in the journal.

However, you are encouraged to modify your manuscript taking into account the reviewers’ comments, in which case the Editors would be willing to reconsider and I will be pleased to receive a revised manuscript within one month of this letter. Attached is the comment from reviewers.

If you decide to submit a revised manuscript I should be grateful if you would include with your submission a detailed explanation of how you have dealt with the points raised by the referees.

Thank you.

Dear Dr. Alimuddin Ali,

We are pleased to attach the edited version of the document sent to us. The paper has been checked for grammatical errors and edited for clarity and good language flow. A file containing changes that have been made to the original draft is in a separate attachment.

There are a few places in the text where comments (in small red font) have been inserted. These are for your attention and action. They include comments drawing your attention to possible discrepancies in the text that you need to resolve.

Please read the entire edited text carefully to check if your intended meanings or emphases have been inadvertently altered. In particular, you should take note of the text highlighted in red which is either relevant new material that has either been added, or parts that have been significantly modified from the original to allow for better continuity to make the writing clearer. It is important that you check that these insertions or changes are correct and appropriate.

ShoresWord seeks to preserve the structure of the original document and tries not to interfere with the author's writing. Not all changes made in editing are corrections for grammatical errors. Changes are also made for style so that the edited passage reads better. Nevertheless, it is up to the author to decide how

Dear Dr. Alimuddin Ali,

Thank you for your inquiry.

ShoreaWord's primary task in editing your document is to ensure that grammatically correct English is used. We check the text and, where necessary, re-phrase the writing for clarity and good language flow. In the process, we try not to interfere too much with the writing style of the author.

Where the document concerned is an academic piece intended for a journal or a conference, or for a thesis, we shall do the necessary so that language does not become an impediment to its acceptance. Where appropriate, we may offer suggestions to improve the presentation of the manuscript. We may also propose changes to bring the manuscript in line with the expectations and norms of academic writing and publication.

Please send us the document you wish to edit and attach your one price quote. For our new clients, we offer a free sample.
