Dear Author,

We refer to your paper "Mobile Collaboration Technology in Engineering Asset Maintenance -- What Technology, Organisation and People Approaches are required?", due to appear in volume 7804 of the Lecture Notes in Computer Science series. The files for this volume have been sent to the typesetters and on January 29th, 2013, a proof of your paper will be made available to you via a web interface. You will be alerted to this via e-mail and will be given 72 hours to check your paper. Please check your email the day before and the day after the date indicated above, as the schedule may change slightly.

Dear Corresponding Author,

We are in the process of publishing the ICT-EurAsia 2013, LNCS 7804 proceedings. During the publication process, no changes are made to the actual content of the paper. The final page numbers and running heads are inserted, as is the reference/copyright line at the bottom of the first page of the paper. In addition, any formatting or capitalization irregularities are corrected.

References are also modified to make them compatible with CrossRef, which will permit cross referencing within SpringerLink and eventually between different publishers and their online databases.

To make sure that no errors have inadvertently been introduced, we would ask you to kindly check the final PDF of your paper, paying particular attention to the references section. This can be done using our e-proofing system. Via the web interface, you can download and check your paper. You may then either approve it, or write your comments in the box. The table at the top of the page enables you to check the structure of your names and to indicate whether or not you would like your e-mail address to be freely available in the abstract preview on SpringerLink. The deadline for your reply is Thursday, January 31, 2013 23:59 GMT. If you have not responded by then, the paper is automatically considered approved. Here is the link:

<https://www.e-proof.sps.co.in/lncs/ja.asp?rfp=cjjjcaaccbhd>

If you have indicated more than one corresponding author for your paper, you will not be the only author receiving this email. Please collaborate with your co-authors before sending your comments. One author should enter all the feedback into the eproof system on behalf of all of the authors of your paper. It is only possible to enter comments once.

Please note that we will only correct errors that have been introduced during the publication process. This should not be seen as an opportunity to copyedit or modify your paper in any way.

The proof PDF now being sent to you is actually the online PDF, i.e., this is what your paper will look like on SpringerLink. The resolution of the file for the printed book will be higher (max. 600 dpi) and any colored figures will be printed in black and white.
