Dear Author(s),

Attached please receive the comments on your recent article from two of our referees. Please kindly make due consideration of the referee's comments to carry out a major revision of your article. Based on the referees' reports and your responses to their comments, we shall decide if your article could be recommended for undergoing another round of peer-reviewing process. I hope you would understand that critical/negative comments are often found in our referee's reports because we always try to maintain at reasonably high standard on the quality of papers published in our online journal. Please note that for those who just make a minor revision of their articles without considering some of the referee's critical comments, we shall reject or no longer process their submission.

Besides, you are reminded to invite a native English speaker to proofread the English of your manuscript before re-submission.

Please feel free to take a few months to improve your article.

With best regards,

Designation
 Prof. Yeung

Thank you for publishing my article on APFSLT (Dec.2013). Because of the publication, so this time I am allowed to write dissertation manuscript.

Nevertheless, taught physics for 20 years, many exciting experiences for my writing. One is about the strategies in solving physics problems, and a means of channeling these experiences is through APFSLT. Therefore, I submit my article to an APFSLT. Hopefully this article useful for other physics teachers.

Thank You

Designation
 Prof. Yeung

I've been trying to revise my writing, and consulted with a native english speaker. However, I realized that the greatest deficiency in our existing all at the State University of Makassar is English.

Thank You
 May God Bless you and your family
